FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20554

JOINT REPORT

Pursuant to the Court's order released May 14, 1993, the applicants submit the following joint report:

1. The parties have discussed settlement. Each party has offered to reimburse the other party for his or her expenses. Neither party has accepted that offer. Neither party has an interest in a merger of the applications. While we do not foreclose the possibility of further settlement discussions as this case proceeds through discovery and the hearing, at this juncture we have no movement toward settlement to report.

2. The parties have discussed discovery. Motions to produce documents have been served and filed. We have agreed that depositions should be taken of the two applicants, Mrs. Scantland and Mr. Casagrande. We have tentatively selected the dates of July 20-21, 1993, which is within the time period for completion of discovery (August 13, 1993), and we have tentatively selected the location, i.e., Mr. Begley's offices in Washington, D.C.

3. The parties have discussed comparative coverage. At this juncture, we believe that a joint exhibit concerning comparative coverage should be prepared, but that it is not necessary to detail other services available in that a stipulation can be entered that five or more services are available to the "non-common" areas served. We are shopping for the most economical way to secure a joint exhibit, which will be submitted to Bureau counsel for review and concurrence.

Respectfully submitted,
